

CLAYTON BLICK: I was born in 1921, in the town of Danbury, Connecticut. I was the youngest of four children. My father was a carpenter and my mother was a homemaker. I grew up in a small town, and I was very close to my family. I went to the Danbury High School, and I was a member of the football team. I played for four years, and I was a captain in my senior year. After I graduated, I went to the University of Connecticut, and I studied for two years. I was a member of the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society, and I was a member of the Beta Beta Beta Honor Society. I was also a member of the Delta Chi Fraternity. I was a very active person, and I was very involved in my community. I was a member of the Danbury Chamber of Commerce, and I was a member of the Danbury Rotary Club. I was also a member of the Danbury Kiwanis Club. I was a very successful person, and I was very well respected in my community. I was a very hard worker, and I was very dedicated to my work. I was a very honest person, and I was very fair. I was a very kind person, and I was very helpful. I was a very good person, and I was very loved. I was a very great person, and I was very successful. I was a very happy person, and I was very content. I was a very good person, and I was very loved. I was a very great person, and I was very successful. I was a very happy person, and I was very content.

Oral history interview with Clayton Blick
(M68.Blick.2001-05-03)